Professional Experience

Jeff Drouin Deslauriers is the newest member of Cushman & Wakefield Edmonton's Industrial team. Jeff was a professional goaltender for twelve years prior to his transition into Commercial Real Estate. Throughout his hockey career he studied via distance with the University of Athabasca toward a Bachelor of Commerce. Working with Associate Partner Kurt Paull, Jeff looks to bring the integrity, disciplined work ethic and accountability that he cultivated during his professional athletic career to his real estate practice.

Originally from Montreal, Jeff is bilingual. Grateful for the opportunity to have played here for the Edmonton Oilers and the lifelong relationships that he made, he decided to make the city of Edmonton home following the completion of his hockey career. Jeff has remained an active member of the Oilers' Alumni and continues to enjoy coaching children of all hockey levels in the community.

Passionate about helping clients accomplish their business goals while promoting economic growth in our city, Jeff's objective is to become a valuable asset to all of his clients.
