Economy

GDP growth in Alberta had moderated by the end of 2018 towards 2.5%, with 2019 growth anticipated to be 1.4% as cuts in oil production continue. This will have a negative impact on the level of investment in the energy sector. Edmonton unemployment has dropped quarter-to-quarter to round out 2018 at 6.3%. This drop reflects a 1.2% decrease in unemployment year-over-year due to growth in the manufacturing and service sectors. Oil prices reached $75 in the beginning of the fourth quarter but drastically declined by the end of the year to $45 a barrel, threatening the local industry in the coming months and limiting overall economic growth. Alberta's construction activity remained weak as of November 2018 with total value of permits down to 17.1% year-over-year.

Market Overview

It was a strong finish to 2018 for Edmonton's office market as vacancy declined to 14.5% and absorption posted strong gains. The vacancy decline was largely driven by significant leasing activity in Edmonton's downtown financial core where Class AA and Class A spaces continued to be in high demand to accommodate company growth. This flight-to-quality trend, with increased emphasis on new product with large floor plates and top rate amenities, is driving demand for new office space. The most significant contributor to absorption in the fourth quarter was the completion of Stantec Tower that arrived to market almost fully leased at 616,250 square feet (sf), where Stantec is the anchor tenant leasing 450,000 sf. Overall suburban vacancy has continued to rise, reaching 21.3% in the fourth quarter of 2018; a significant increase year-over-year when vacancy was at 19.9%. Several new buildings were delivered in Summerside and South of the Henday in 2018, and the suburban market also saw a flight to quality with several tenants moving into newer buildings. A couple of suburban tenants are also in the process of relocating to Downtown with Electronic Arts being the largest leasing 75,000 sf at Epcor Tower.

Class A space was most notably positively impacted by the flight-to-quality trend in the fourth quarter, especially in the downtown area where rents stabilized, while lower class space throughout the city saw negative absorption and have seen rents fall due to climbing vacancy.

Outlook

The revitalization of downtown core especially the development of the ICE District will continue to drive people to live downtown and to work downtown, contributing to lower vacancy rates in 2019. However, rising property taxes will come into play in the coming months, where office spaces in the suburban market with low gross rents will be more attractive for tenants seeking affordable options, resulting in slightly lower vacancy rates in the suburban market. Rents are anticipated to slightly rise as several Class A construction projects arrive in 2019, and lower class B and C rents rate are expected to remain low.
